

COURSES

Building Capacities for Effective Implementation of the Arms Trade Treaty (ATT)

Contributing to a responsible and licit arms trade

Thematic cluster:

Arms Proliferation

Course dates:

30 March - 3 April 2020

Course location:

Geneva

This course is intended to train government officials of states having signed or acceded to the Arms Trade Treaty (ATT) on how to implement its provisions effectively. The goal of the course is to contribute to fulfilling the two main objectives of the ATT: to “establish the highest possible common international standards for regulating or improving the regulation of the international trade in conventional arms” and to “prevent and eradicate the illicit trade in conventional arms and prevent their diversion.”

COURSE FOCUS:

This course offers essential understanding and knowledge about the requirements derived from signature and ratification of the ATT. Moreover, it provides an opportunity to share practical experience with government officials from other geographic and professional backgrounds, thus improving individual and collective capacities for effective implementation of the Treaty provisions. The course is intended to combine knowledge transfer, skill development (in particular through simulation exercises), and experience sharing among practitioners and participants from diverse geographical and professional backgrounds.

COURSE BENEFITS

This course will enable you to:

- acquire knowledge about the current global and regional trends in conventional arms trade as well as the history of international efforts to regulate it
- understand the requirements and implications for your country of the commitments it undertook in signing the Arms Trade Treaty
- share good practices and experience with experts and practitioners from other states, international organisations research institutions on the regulation of the international arms trade
- enhance skills to respond cooperatively and effectively to the challenges of applying the provisions of the Arms Trade Treaty
